

In October 2020, visitors to the Museum of Natural Sciences in Brussels, were able to enjoy the live sound project DIVE, in the recently opened Gallery Living Planet.

An enchanting performance, which seemed tailor-made for our Gallery. But nothing could be further from the truth. DIVE, previously performed at Museum-M, is "just" a "living" performance in which the artists grope deeply into their own creativity. They create a world that subtly blends with the existing context, fully in line with the message and atmosphere in our Gallery. It therefore seemed as if this Gallery was developed especially for DIVE.

It was a pleasure to work with the artists: clear agreements and a professional approach to the organization and the administrative preparation and follow-up. They were also very flexible and thought along with us about solutions to make DIVE succeed despite some museum limitations.

And the result cannot be ignored, visitors who looked at the collection in a different way, experienced the museum from a refreshing angle, and found an extra dimension through this unique project.
